Social Policy Reform in China: Views from Home and Abroad (Social Policy in Modern Asia)

The People's Republic of China (PRC) is a timely example of social policy reform in a socialist market economy. This edited collection brings together Chinese and Western experts to introduce and integrate policy issues of the PRC into the mainstream of cross-national social policy debate. Drawing upon comparativist expertise in relevant aspects of social policy, it explores the ways in which the PRC has or has not taken "lessons from abroad" in key social policy respects and illustrates policy-relevant relations between Chinese and Western perspectives. The contributors identify those aspects of China's social policy reforms that seem the most and least likely to appeal to Western societies. The collection therefore represents a substantial advance in two-way, East-West lesson learning in social and public policy.
