My Life As I Rember It Rosa Mae Cobb

This is the life story of a young lady, raised on the farmland of Kansas during our nation's depressions years, speaking English as her second language, and the ensuing years of trial, triumph and celebration of life. Rosa Geibler (her maiden name) lost her father when she was just 10, and then was told she'd never have kids because of complications in the birthing mechanisms. But against the odds, married a young U.S. Air Force pilot, gave birth and raised six kids and went on to travel the world and experience a life only a few can imagine. Today she is a healthy 81 years old, with two new knees, 14 grand-kids, and 8 great-grand-kids, with more to come. She still makes worlds best Lasagne, Butterfly Shrimp, Potatoe Bake and German Chocolate Cake. Today it is impossible to have her sit during the holidays; especially Christmas. She insists on managing the cooking, the baking, the clean up and specializes in making sure everyone feels welcome and has a great time. Yes, this book is dedicated to Rosa Cobb, the little blonde who used to wave a white flag, high in the air to get the attention of the farm neighbors miles away, to see if they could come over and play. Today she doesn't wave the white flag anymore, but through the cell phone, email and social media the message is still the same. . . "come over, let's get together and enjoy the day . . . " This is the story of Rosa Mae Cobb . . .
