G.K. Chesterton, one of the most prolific writers of the 20th century, is most famous for a series of mystery stories and novelettes that feature the Roman Catholic priest, Fr. Brown. Adapted for stage, radio and film, the Fr. Brown stories have proved to be enduringly popular. But like Chesterton's other work, what to many may seem like trivial short stories contain profound observations of the world, human character, philosophy, morality and religion.

John Peterson, the editor of Father Brown of the Church of Rome, takes the reader through this first group of stories, giving valuable annotations as well as an introduction that gives a fascinating look at Chesterton's detective fiction. Fans of Father Brown and Chesterton will be delighted by this volume in the Collected Works.

As a university student, I exactly feel bored in order to reading. If their teacher inquired them to go to the library or to make a summary for some e-book, they are complained. Just minor students that have reading's heart and soul or real their passion. They just do what the professor wants, like asked to the library. They go to at this time there but nothing reading critically. Any students feel that studying is not important, boring and can't see colorful pictures on there. Yeah, it is for being complicated. Book is very important for yourself. As we know that on this era, many ways to get whatever we really wish for. Likewise, words say, many ways to reach Chinese's country.
